

This is ridiculous...the very nature of this business is based on the free enterprise system and you people seem determined to destroy this...if it wasn't for the pressure from companies like mine, the ILECS would still be renting consumers black rotary-dial phones. We come up with the future in Internet Connectivity and the ILECS want't stop us any way they can...companies my size can't afford slick lobbyests. We have to rely on agencies like yours to protect our interests, not work against us...it's tough enough out here without you helping the Barbarians...please, don't let this idea become reality.
